Editor' Note: The following article is an historical chronology linking Nazism, the Muslim Brotherhood, and extreme anti-Semitism within the Arab community. Another point to note is that many Islamic/Arabic political movements also had connections with the Soviet regime and espoused (and continue to have) a socialist bent – which fits with the prior influence of Nazism, as German National Socialism was decidedly a leftist movement (French sociologist, Jacques Ellul, reminds us that, “Nazism... far from being opposed to Marxism, completes it and confirms it”).

Understanding these historical markers allows us to better grasp the revolutionary fervor in the Middle East today. Finally, Mrs. Kjos, the author of this piece, was able to pull together a number of key points from Chuck Morse's 2003 book, The Nazi Connection to Islamic Terrorism.

Final Note: Berit has been regularly updating her readers in regards to the revolutions in Africa and the Middle East. A few of these updates have been added at the back of her article.

By Berit Kjos (www.crossroad.to).

Since the beginning of time, ambitious change-agents have plotted together to fuel revolutions and transform their world. Minor or major conspiracies have usually played an important part in fueling radical social change. Dismissing such secret plots as mere “conspiracy theories” has served powerful leaders well – at least for a while.

But those who know God see a larger picture. While human nature doesn't change, our God still reigns! That's why the author of Psalm 2 wondered why power-hungry rulers would even try to plot against God and His sovereign ways:

“Why do the nations rage, and the people plot [conspire] a vain thing?... the rulers take counsel together... saying, ‘Let us break Their bonds in pieces’...” – Psalm 2:1-3

Like many leaders today, Hitler knew how to use every crisis as an opportunity to grab more power. So did his anti-Semitic Muslim partners during World War II: Mohammad Haj Amin al-Husseini (the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem) and the rising Muslim Brotherhood. Both aimed to eradicate Israel and radicalize the Middle East and North Africa. Their followers have come a long way!

Today, their grand target is America. As we are told in a Muslim Brotherhood document titled, ‘An Explanatory Memorandum on the General Strategic Goal for the Group in North America,’

“The Ikhwan [Muslim Brotherhood] must understand that their work in America is a kind of grand Jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within and ‘sabotaging’ its miserable house by their hands and the hands of the believers so that it is eliminated and God’s religion is made victorious over all other religions.” (Reprinted by Cliff Kincaid on Feb. 4, 2011)

For those who trust God, this should be a time of prayer and preparation for the challenging times ahead. As the West becomes increasingly hostile toward Christianity, it’s fast forgetting the truths and moral standards that laid the foundation for Western freedom and order. Yet, we need not fear, for “The Lord... will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble. And those who know Your name will put their trust in You.” (Psalm 9:9-10)

Here is a chronology of Nazi/Arab collaboration and collusion.

1920. Mohammad Haj Amin al-Husseini, soon to be Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, prompted the first large-scale pogrom against Jewish settlers in Palestine. Thousands of innocent Jewish settlers (along with their moderate Muslim neighbors) were slaughtered.

1920s. Meanwhile, the Muslim Brotherhood was founded during the 1920s [some point to 1928] by Hassan Al Banna, a young Egyptian schoolteacher who admired Hitler and was captivated by his message. According to John Loftus, a former prosecutor with the US Justice Department, Al-Banna was so persistent in his “admiration of the new Nazi Party that in the 1930s. Al Banna and the Muslim Brotherhood became a secret arm of Nazi Intelligence.”

Today, we know that the Muslim Brotherhood has been spreading its ideology through Europe and America as well as the Arab world. Its ultimate goal is global Islamic theocracy. In the article, “Muslim Brotherhood; not quite the YMCA,” Bill Randles gives us a glimpse of its violent history, ideology and influence:

“After several assassination attempts by the Muslim brotherhood, [Egyptian President] Nasser severely repressed the movement in Egypt, killing several of its leaders and imprisoning and torturing hundreds of others. Nasser was succeeded by Anwar Sadat as president of Egypt, but after signing a peace treaty with Israel, Sadat was assassinated by troops he was reviewing, who were, you guessed it, Muslim Brothers.

Sadat's vice president in Egypt, Hosni Mubarak knew who he was dealing with in the Muslim brotherhood, and continued the Egyptian policy of repression. One of the Muslim Brothers that had been imprisoned was Ayman Al Zawahiri, the Egyptian pediatrician who became Osama bin Laden's right hand man.

Another of the Egyptian Muslim Brothers imprisoned was Sayyid Qutb, who has provided the intellectual basis for the current violent world Jihad. His books have inspired Osama Bin Laden, Zawahiri, and countless other Jihadi's the world over, to seek the overthrow of secular Muslim governments and the destruction of America, Israel and the civilized world in the name of Allah...

Did I mention 'The Brotherhood' is in 70 nations, and there is even a well established US branch? They usually wear ties and are professional apologists for Islam, and through an army of attorneys wage 'lawfare' against western nations. They are the inspiration for Hamas, Al Qaida, and CAIR, (the Council on American and Islamic relations)."

1921. Though himself a Jew, Sir Herbert Samuel, the British high commissioner of the Palestine Mandate, made an unthinkable choice: he appointed the al-Husseini as grand mufti of Jerusalem – in spite of vigorous protest from most Palestinian Arabs, as well as from Jewish settlers. Given such power, the militant al-Husseini would have the authority needed to fuel ongoing hatred and violence against all Jews and the many moderate Arabs who opposed him throughout the Muslim world. Sir Samuel's cruel and absurd appointment illustrates our human nature. Faced with anti-Semitism, many ambitious traitors have gained power by denying their Jewish background and joining the prevailing hostility against their own people.

1931 (December). Al-Husseini organized the All-Islamic Conference in Jerusalem. Honored as their president, he became the acknowledged leader of the Arab world.

1932. A time of "unprecedented Jewish Immigration" from Europe, prompted by the rise of Hitler, his spreading hatred, and the rising threat of persecution. Meanwhile, Al-Husseini's Palestine Arab Party planned to expel all Jewish settlers to fulfill his vision of a pan-Arab ummah.

1933 (January 30). Hitler's election as chancellor of Germany accelerated al-Husseini's influence and efforts to establish "distinctly Nazi-Arab-style organizations." Al-Husseini help create the Young Egypt Green Shirts who copied the Nazi Party and started their own version of Hitler's sig heil salute. Like Hitler's stormtroopers, they would carry out terror campaigns against Jews and more accommodating Arabs. Among its rising young leaders would be Egypt's future president Gamel Abdel Nasser. They embraced Nazi slogans and inspired other pro-Nazi parties in the Arab world. Hitler's first congratulatory telegrams came from Arab capitals.

1936. Al-Husseini met in Palestine with Francois Genoud, the Swiss banker of the Third Reich. This is the start of a long and “fruitful” personal relationship that lasted until Al-Husseini’s death in 1974. From his base in Berlin, Genoud would fund all kinds of anti-Jewish propaganda campaigns in the Arab world during the years ahead.

1936-1937. Al-Husseini prompted numerous riots against the British as well as Palestinian Jews. This “Arab Revolt” was initiated by a planned “crisis.” Al-Husseini’s secret network had spread a false rumor that four Arabs had been slaughtered by Jews. Though this rumor was fast proven false, the carnage quickly spread. This Nazi-style “systematic extermination” of Jews would also include Arabs suspected of being disloyal or opposed to Al-Husseini. Though the Nazified Arabs accused Jews of conspiring to dispose of all Arabs in Palestine, the truth was the reverse: Al-Husseini planned to exterminate all Jews from Arab lands!

1931-1939. During the thirties, the Muslim Brotherhood grew fast. In addition to its initial focus on social welfare and Sharia law, it attracted followers in Egypt and the Middle East because of its anti-Semitic stand. By the end of World War II the Muslim Brotherhood could boast of half a million members. Its founder, Al-Banna helped distribute the Arab version of Hitler’s Mein Kampf and The Protocols of the Elders of Zion thus fueling the rising hostility toward Jews and their Western supporters. Al-Banna expressed his zeal in these words,

“To a nation that perfects the industry of death and which knows how to die nobly, God gives proud life in this world and eternal grace in the life to come” [and] “We are not afraid of death, we desire it... Let us die in redemption for Muslims.” (“The Muslim Brotherhood – Nazi Connection,” www.educationnews.org)

1941-1945. Adolf Eichmann ruled the Department of Jewish Affairs in Nazi Germany. Sharing al-Husseini’s hatred, he would oversee the transport of 3 million Jews to concentrations camps both in Germany and in Nazi-occupied Europe. He also wrote glowing reports of the Nazi ideals embraced by Arabs: “Nazi flags fly in Palestine and they adorn their houses with Swastikas and portraits of Hitler.”

Death and Prison Camps in Germany

1939-1945. Reviewing Timothy Snyder's book Bloodlands: Europe Between Hitler and Stalin, Matthew Kaminski wrote in The Wall Street Journal,

"Auschwitz, which wasn't purely a 'death camp,' lives on in our memory due in large part to those who lived to tell the tale. Through his access to Eastern European sources, Mr. Snyder also takes the reader to places like Babi Yar, Treblinka and Belzec. These were Nazi mass-murder sites that left virtually no survivors... The killing began east of the Ribbentrop-Molotov line. Most of the victims were shot over pits. Nearly half of the millions of Jews killed by the Germans died in lands taken from the Soviets. In territory that the Nazis occupied in 1939, the extermination started later. The innovation was the gas chamber in the main 'death factories' at Treblinka, Chelmno, Belzec, Majdanek and Sobibor, which took in Jews only to kill them. By the time the sixth death camp came on line at Birkenau, near Auschwitz, in early 1943, more than three-quarters of the Jews killed in the Holocaust, and most Soviet and Polish Jews, were already dead."

1947. The United States Holocaust Memorial Museum tells us,

"The 'Exodus 1947' was a worn-out U.S.-owned coastal passenger ship launched in 1928... Initially sold as scrap for slightly more than $8,000, the ship was acquired by the Hagana [an 'underground' Jewish military organization – since Jews had neither a nation nor any rights, there had no legal 'organizations']...

In July 1947, the [old 'Exodus 1947' left] for Palestine with over 4,500 Jewish men, women, and children, all displaced persons (DPs) or survivors of the Holocaust. Even before the ship... reached Palestine's territorial waters, British destroyers surrounded it... Attempting to make an example of the 'Exodus 1947,' the British transferred the passengers onto three navy transports which returned to Europe...

When the passengers, including many orphaned children, forced the issue by declaring a hunger strike, the British were forced to return them to Hamburg in the British-occupied zone of Germany. Amid worldwide public outrage, the British authorities compelled the passengers to disembark; some were forcibly removed from the ship. The passengers were then transferred to displaced persons camps in Germany. Displaced persons in camps all over Europe protested vociferously and staged hunger strikes when they heard the news. Large protests erupted on both sides of the Atlantic. The ensuing public embarrassment for Britain played a significant role in the diplomatic swing of sympathy toward the Jews and the eventual recognition of a Jewish state in 1948."

The Nazi-styled Muslim Military in Serbian Bosnia

1941. Hitler's armies invaded the Balkans – a blend of Serbian Orthodox and Albanian Muslim citizens. There, Hitler stationed a Nazi-Muslim unit: Al-Husseini called it the “Arab Liberation force.”

Living in a luxurious former Jewish home in Berlin, Al-Husseini met with SS Reichsfuhrer Heinrich Himmler, who put Al-Husseini in charge of recruiting Muslims into Nazi armies in the Balkans, Russia, North Africa and the Middle East. About “100,000 European Muslims were recruited to fight for Nazi Germany...”

Croatia (including Bosnia-Herzegovina) was controlled by Nazi sympathizers led by a coalition of Catholics and Muslims. During this time its militia wing launched a genocidal assault on the Christian Orthodox Serbs, Russians, Roma (gypsies) and Jewish minorities.

“For minorities such as Serbs, Jews and Gypsies, we have three million bullets,” wrote Croatian leader Mile Budak. The Croatian-Nazi forces killed about 200,000 Serbs, 40,000 Gypsies and 22,000 Jews.

1943. A Nazi order released all Muslim troops to the leadership of al-Husseini. They were renamed the Bosnian Hanzar brigades and would soon grow to become the third largest unit of Hitler's Waffen-SS. In addition to fighting the war, they led the ethnic cleansing and deportation of Jews to Croatia's Kruscica Concentration Camp, a transfer station en route to Auschwitz.

1944. By summer, the Hanzars controlled eastern and northern Bosnia, where they continued to slaughter Serbs and demolish villages. As Chuck Morse stated in his book, “Perhaps some of the tough Serbian response to a Muslim-controlled Bosnia in the 1990s was a result of the crimes committed against the Serbian minority of Bosnia in those years... Serbia, even while under brutal Nazi occupation, protected its minorities, including the Jews.”[p.90]

Other Sources of Information

1939-1945. In July 2010, Malcolm Kline published the article, “History Behind The Scenes,” and in it made a startling statement, “Roosevelt told Stalin and Churchill that he was going on to meet with the Saudi king after the Big Three disbanded at their Crimea confab... Stalin asked FDR if he would make any concessions to the king. ‘The president replied that there was only one concession he thought he might offer, and that was to give him the 6 million Jews in the United States,' the notes read."

While Christians in the West had sought to protect and save human life (Editor's Note: the irony is that many Western leaders – as opposed to the general public – played lip service to human life while operating in a way that put European Jews in mortal danger), Nazi leaders and their elite partners would soon wage war against such impractical ideals. In his online article, "Population Control, Nazis, and the UN," Anton Chaitkin gives us a glimpse of this transformation:

"The Rockefeller Foundation is the prime sponsor of public relations for the United Nations' drastic depopulation program... Oil monopolist John D. Rockefeller created the family-run Rockefeller Foundation in 1909. By 1929 he had placed $300 million worth of the family's controlling interest in the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey (now called 'Exxon') to the account of the Foundation.

The Foundation's money created the medical specialty known as Psychiatric Genetics. For the new experimental field, the Foundation reorganized medical teaching in Germany, creating and thenceforth continuously directing the 'Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Psychiatry' and the 'Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Anthropology, Eugenics and Human Heredity.' The Rockefellers' chief executive of these institutions was the fascist Swiss psychiatrist Ernst Rudin...

In 1932, the British-led 'Eugenics' movement designated the Rockefellers' Dr. Rudin as the president of the worldwide Eugenics Federation. The movement called for the killing or sterilization of people whose heredity made them a public burden... A few months later, Hitler took over Germany and the Rockefeller-Rudin apparatus became a section of the Nazi state. The regime appointed Rudin head of the Racial Hygiene Society. Rudin and his staff, as part of the Task Force of Heredity Experts chaired by SS chief Heinrich Himmler, drew up the sterilization law...

Under the Nazis, the German chemical company I.G. Farben and Rockefeller's Standard Oil of New Jersey were effectively a single firm... Following the German invasion of Poland in 1939, Standard Oil pledged to keep the merger with I.G. Farben going even if the U.S. entered the war... In 1940-41, I.G. Farben built a gigantic factory at Auschwitz in Poland, to utilize the Standard Oil/I.G. Farben patents with concentration camp slave labor to make gasoline from coal. The SS was assigned to guard the Jewish and other inmates and select for killing those who were unfit for I.G. Farben slave labor...

With support from the Rockefellers, the Eugenics Society (England) set up a sub-committee called the International Planned Parenthood Federation, which for 12 years had no other address than the Eugenics Society. This, then, is the private, international apparatus which has set the world up for a global holocaust, under the UN flag."

1953. Writing in the Israeli journal Nativ, Arie Stav explains the following in his article, “Arabs and Nazism.”

“After the war, Gamal Abdul Nasser, another member of Young Egypt, was among the group of officers who led the July 1952 revolution in Egypt. The first step of the new regime after it had seized power--shades of Hitler--was to outlaw all the other political parties in Egypt. Sadat continued to express open admiration for Hitler in a letter he sent to the Egyptian daily Al Mussawar on September 18, 1953. This open bow to Hitler--despite the revelations of Nazi atrocities in the Nuremberg trials--is evidence of the depth of Sadat’s identification with Nazism.”

Islamic War on Jews Continues Today

In his article “Arabs and Nazism,” Arie Stav writes:

“Nazi ceremonials continue to be used in today’s Egypt. The President’s ceremonial troops wear Wehrmacht helmets and receive heads of government at Cairo airport with a military parade which contains the famous goosestep. One of the most surrealistic sights during the negotiations surrounding the peace treaty with Egypt was the figure of [Israel’s Prime Minister in the 1970s, Menachem] Begin, survivor of the Holocaust, walking past the honor guard like someone in a trance.

Nostalgic admiration of Nazis has remained strong in Syria. Sami al-Joundi, a founder of the Syrian Ba’ath movement, writes: ‘We were racists. We admired the Nazis. We were immersed in reading Nazi literature and books that were the source of the Nazi spirit... We were the first who thought of a translation of Mein Kampf...’

Hitler's definition of Zionism in Mein Kampf is endlessly quoted. 'They [Zionists] do not have any intention to establish a Jewish state in Palestine in order to settle there. They only fight for one place in which they [can base] a central organization for carrying out their global plot, a city of refuge for criminals and a training center for the scoundrels of the future.' This paragraph, cited in most anti-Zionist writings in the Arab world, bestows the weight of supreme authority.

Similarly, in answering the argument of 'the Zionists' that the Protocols of the Elders of Zion are a fabrication, Mein Kampf is quoted as proof of their authenticity, which settles the matter, given that Hitler's authority has assumed canonical status."

2001. An Egyptian columnist wrote, "Thank you, Hitler, of blessed memory, who on behalf of the Palestinians avenged in advance against the most vile criminals on Earth." (Quoted in Chuck Morse' book The Nazi Connection to Islamic Terrorism)

2010. (July 10) Israel Today Magazine runs an article titled "Palestinian leader calls for Arab invasion of Israel."

"The official Palestinian Authority daily newspaper Al-Hayat Al-Jadida on Tuesday wrote that when Abbas met recently with media figures at the home of the Palestinian ambassador to Jordan, he recounted that during an Arab League Summit in Libya in March he told his fellow leaders that he still preferred war against Israel, but could not do it alone."

(July 22) Frontpage Magazine published the article, "Abandoning Israel."

"Israel, however, must assume that should the same people who have repeatedly called for their physical annihilation gain the means to accomplish their oft-stated goal, they will not hesitate to destroy the Jewish state. Israel is certainly preparing for the worst. It is moving full speed ahead with its Iron Dome missile defense system, continues to push for international diplomatic action against Iran, strives as always to hold its military to the highest possible standards of behavior and is continually reaching out to Washington."

(July 30) From the Jewish World Review,

"Stone said that Adolf Hitler had been given a bum rap and that through 'Jewish domination of the media,' the Jews have inflated the importance of the Holocaust and wrecked US foreign policy... Cole wrote, 'Jerusalem not only was not being built by the likely then non-existent 'Jewish people' in 1000 BCE [Editor's Note: When Solomon built his majestic temple in Jerusalem!], but Jerusalem probably was not even inhabited at that point in history.'"

(July 31) Israel National News:

“If a Palestinian Authority state is created in Judea and Samaria, no Israeli citizen will be allowed to set foot inside, PA Chairman Mahmoud Abbas said this week in a meeting with members of the Arab League. The PA chairman also stated that he would block any Jewish soldiers from serving with an international force stationed on PA-controlled land... ‘I will never allow a single Israeli to live among us on Palestinian land,’ Abbas declared... Abbas has demanded that Israeli completely freeze construction for Jews in areas east of the 1949 armistice line, including north, south, and east Jerusalem...”

(August 7) Brussels Journal:

“Jews are no longer safe in major Dutch cities... three Jews with skullcaps, two adolescents and an adult, were harassed within thirty minutes of being out in the streets of Amsterdam. Young Muslims spat at them, mocked them, shouted insults and made Nazi salutes. ‘Dirty Jew, go back to your own country,’ a group of Moroccan youths shouted at a young indigenous Dutch Jew. ‘It is rather ironic,’ the young man commented, adding that if one goes out in a burka one encounters less hostility than if one wears a skullcap...”

In an effort to arrest the culprits who terrorize Jews, the Amsterdam authorities have ordered police officers to walk the streets disguised as Jews. The Dutch police already disguise officers as ‘decoy prostitutes, decoy gays and decoy grannies’ to deter muggings... Once again, the specter of anti-Semitism is haunting Europe.”

(August 18) Aaron Klein, writing for World Net Daily: “Employees of the Turkish embassy in Tel Aviv are being held hostage in their compound by a Palestinian threatening to ‘kill Jews’...”

(October 1) NBC tours The Landmark for the Resistance, an open-air theme park in Lebanon that celebrates Israeli defeat: “A theme park built on hatred of Israel and on decades of war.”

(October 3) Britain’s Telegraphic noted that the UK is a “hotbed of anti-Israeli sentiment,”

“Since returning to these shores as Israel’s ambassador... I have been dismayed to find that, as far as Israel is concerned, these values are under threat. Fairness is all too frequently absent in a debate that has been hijacked by extremists. Israel faces an intensified campaign of delegitimisation, demonisation and double standards.

Britain has become a hotbed for radical anti-Israeli views and a haven for disingenuous calls for a ‘one-state solution’, a euphemistic name for a movement advocating Israel’s destruction. Those who propagate this notion distort Israel’s past while categorically denying Israel’s right to exist...

At the end of last month, members of the University and College Union (UCU) passed a motion that in effect called for a boycott of the Israeli academia. The concept of an academic boycott is a ludicrous oxymoron, undermining the democratic principles of free speech and free debate... The pattern is exacerbated when coverage of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict is routinely tainted with bias and a surprising lack of context...

The average British citizen is painfully unaware that, since Hamas seized control of Gaza last year, 1,400 rockets and 1,500 mortar bombs have landed on Israeli soil. No government in the world would tolerate such a sustained attack without taking action.”

2011: Rioting is widespread in the Middle East; the Muslim Brotherhood sees opportunity.

(Feb. 15) A World Net Daily article reports,

“An international ‘crisis management’ group led by billionaire George Soros long has petitioned for the Egyptian government to normalize ties with the Muslim Brotherhood. The International Crisis Group, or ICG, also released a report urging the Egyptian regime to allow the Brotherhood to establish an Islamist political party. The ICG includes on its board Mohamed ElBaradei, one of the main opposition leaders in Egypt, as well as other personalities who champion dialogue with Hamas...

U.S. board members include Zbigniew Brzezinski, who was national security adviser to Jimmy Carter; Samuel Berger, who was Bill Clinton’s national security adviser; and retired U.S. ambassador Thomas Pickering, who made headlines in 2009 after meeting with Hamas leaders and calling for the U.S. to open ties to the Islamist group... Soros’ Open Society also funded the main opposition voice in Tunisia...

Soros did... single out Israel as ‘the main stumbling block’ in paving the way toward transition in the Middle East...

...an Egyptian Islamist terrorist organization founded by the Muslim Brotherhood is re-establishing itself... Al-Gama’a al-Islamiyya, is being reconstituted... [It] serves as the de fact ‘military’ wing of the Brotherhood...”

(February 19) Barry Rubin writes the following for the American Thinker,

“February 18 may be a turning point in Egyptian history. On that day Yusuf al-Qaradawi, the best-known Muslim Brotherhood cleric in the world...will address a mass rally in Cairo... Through internet, radio, his 100 books, and his weekly satellite television program, Qaradawi has been an articulate voice for revolutionary Islamism...

Qaradawi... argued that Islamists should always participate in elections because they would, he claims, invariably win them... [He] supports the straight Islamist line: anti-

American, anti-Western, wipe Israel off the map, foment Jihad... Under the old regime, Qaradawi was banned from the country... One of Qaradawi's initiatives has been urging Muslims to settle in the West... he is about to unleash the full force of his power and persuasion on Egypt."

(February 25) A World Net Daily article reports,

"...the U.S. Justice Department has identified no fewer than 61 Muslim Brotherhood figures and entities operating within the U.S. They include: The Islamic Society of North America, or ISNA... The North American Islamic Trust, or NAIT, which holds title to most of the major mosques in America... and, The Washington-based Council on American-Islamic Relations, or CAIR... All are heavily funded by wealthy patrons in... Mideast nations...

...many of the groups were laundering terrorist-bound funds through a maze of business conduits... One secret document found during the raid of Elbarasse's home lays bare the Brotherhood's ambitious plans for a U.S. takeover, replacing the U.S. Constitution with Shariah... Written in 1991 by another U.S. Brotherhood agent, Mohammed Akram Ad-louni, the strategy paper describes the group's long-term goal of 'sabotaging' the U.S. system...

Under the heading, 'The role of the Muslim Brother in North America,' it states: 'The Ikhwan must understand that their work in America is a kind of grand jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within, and 'sabotaging' its miserable house by the hands of the believers, so that it is eliminated and Allah's religion is made victorious over all other religions.'

The same document also lists 29 organizations working in the U.S. to further the Brotherhood's goals. In addition to ISNA, NAIT and CAIR's forerunner IAP, they include: The International Institute for Islamic Thought, or IIIT, the largest Islamic think tank in America; The Muslims Students Association, or MSA, which actively recruits on college campuses across the country... Still, the Obama administration has actively courted the Brotherhood..."

An Important, Eternal Perspective

Today, almost 2000 years of exile and dispersion to every continent, an amazing number of Jews still retain their identity. Though persecution and the struggle for survival has prompted many to hide their origins and blend with prevailing culture, countless others have taken their stand as part of God's original chosen people.

“Let the name of God be blessed forever and ever, for wisdom and power belong to Him. It is He who changes the times and the epochs; He removes kings and establishes kings; He gives wisdom to wise men and knowledge to men of understanding.”
– Daniel 2:20-21

“When I have brought them back from the peoples and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and I am hallowed in them in the sight of many nations, then they shall know that I am the Lord their God, who sent them into captivity among the nations, but also brought them back to their land, and left none of them captive any longer. And I will not hide My face from them anymore; for I shall have poured out My Spirit on the house of Israel,' says the Lord God.” – Ezekiel 39:27-29

Freedom Vote for Southern Sudan

Editor's Note: Amongst all the strife in the Islamic world, one “good news” story has received little play in Western media - Southern Sudan’s move away from it’s Muslim dominated government in Khartoum. Peter Hammond, of Frontline Fellowship (South Africa), has spent much time in war-torn Sudan, including the Nuba Mountain region. Here is Frontline’s recent report on the Southern Sudanese vote to form its own nation.

You can learn more about Mr. Hammond’s work at www.frontline.org.za.

A new country is about to be born as Southern Sudanese overwhelmingly voted for secession from the Arab North.

Final Walk to Freedom

From 9 to 15 January, South Sudanese voted in polling stations throughout the vast country and even across the world. Polling stations were set up as far afield as in the United States of America and Australia for the dispersed refugees and “lost boys of Sudan,” to have their say in what is being called “the final walk to freedom.”

Violence in Abyei

The mostly peaceful elections were marred by a number of violent clashes, including a deadly ambush at 5pm Monday, 10 January. Misserlya Arab tribesmen killed 18 Southern Sudanese civilians and wounded 18 as they returned from the North to vote in the Referendum in the South.

Referendum in Abyei Postponed

In the disputed oil rich Abyei region, which is meant to have a separate Referendum on whether to join the South or the North, dozens of people were killed in violent clashes. The Referendum in this region was indefinitely postponed.

Counting the Votes

It is estimated that it will take the rest of the month (January) to finalize collating and counting the votes from all the remote regions of Southern Sudan. However those votes which have already been counted are overwhelmingly for secession. At Juba University polling station it was 2,663 votes for secession to 69 for unity. At the tomb for veteran rebel leader, Dr. John Garang, who died in a helicopter “accident” under suspicious circumstances just weeks after being received by a crowd of over 3 million in Khartoum, 3,066 votes were counted for secession and just 25 for union with the North.

Observers Approve Referendum

The two largest foreign observer missions, the European Union and the Carter Centre Foundation have described the Referendum as “open and transparent,” with over 95% voter turnout and therefore “valid.”

Logistical Challenges

Despite the tensions in the border regions, particularly in Abyei, huge crowds queued to cast their ballots. Southern Sudan is a vast and undeveloped region which has only about 40km of paved roads in an area the size of France and Belgium combined. The logistical challenges of conducting a Referendum throughout the war devastated regions of Southern Sudan were overwhelming. Many polling stations could only be reached by helicopter, or by motorbike. The first 30,000 ballots counted were 96% voting for secession and only 3% for unity. While that is only a small section of the 3.2 million votes cast, observers are convinced that almost everyone in Southern Sudan is for independence from the North.

War Wary

Since the British granted independence to Sudan, 1 January 1956, Sudan has been at war for most of the last 55 years. Just in the second phase of the war (1983 to 2005), an estimated 2 million people died and over 4 million lost their homes and were forced to flee.

A Fragile Peace

Oxfam estimated that just in the last year (2010) of peace, more than a thousand died in fighting between Arab Northerners and Black Southerners and more than 200,000 people had to flee their homes.

The Failure of the UN

Many non-governmental organizations have criticized the United Nations Peace Keeping Mission in Sudan (UNMIS) as having “so far failed to prioritize the protection of local people.”

Abyei Flash point

During the Referendum at least 50 Misserlya Arabs and 26 Southerners were killed in fighting in Abyei. Dissension between the Arab North and the Christian South on the Referendum in Abyei has led to the suspension of the separate Referendum there. The Northern government wants the Misserlya Arabs to have voting rights, while the South says that only permanent residents of Abyei, the Dinka Ngok, should vote. The Misserlya Arabs are nomads who only come to the South for grazing seasonally.

Separation or Unity

Because most Sudanese are illiterate the ballot papers are simply illustrated with a single hand marked Separation and another outline of clasped hands marked Unity.

Goodbye to Khartoum

One Southerner, Tom Drani said: “we are saying goodbye to Khartoum, the capital of old Sudan. We are coming to have our own capital here in Juba.” Atem Yak said: “I never saw the flag of Sudan as something I owed allegiance to. The national anthem never represented my will. So I will not shed tears when Sudan breaks into two. I will be happy.”

Ecstatic Rejoicing

Former UN Secretary, General Kofi Annan, said that he had never seen more smiles than at the polling stations at Southern Sudan. All have reported on the overwhelming enthusiasm and ecstatic joy witnessed in the long queues at polling stations in the South.

Many Died for Freedom

Col. William Ngang Ayuen said: “We lost a lot of people. Today is good for them.” Southern Sudan President Salva Kiir voted at the tomb of rebel hero John Garang. President Salva Kiir declared: “I am sure they did not die in vain.”

A New Nation

Signs in the crowd declared: “A new nation to be born on the African continent!!!” Sudan, geographically the largest country in Africa, will lose a third of its land, nearly a quarter of its population and most of its oil, if the South secedes.

Delivered from Oppression

Julia Kiden said: “We feel that after the Referendum we will be delivered from oppression from the North.”

U.S. Incentives

The United States has offered the government of Sudan many incentives to allow a peaceful Southern vote, including removal from its list of State Sponsors of Terrorism and the lifting of economic sanctions.

Lost Boys of Sudan in America

Polling stations were set up in 8 American cities to accommodate the many refugees from Southern Sudan living in the USA. Baseball star, Luol Deng, arrived at a polling station in the North Side of Chicago, saying: “A lot of people have fought for this day, a lot of lives have been lost over this and now we have a say. All we could do in the past is run. Now we are here today to show we’re not running. We’re here to make a difference.”

Freedom from Fear

Dolly Odwong who recalled the Russian-made Antanov bombers raining death and destruction on their communities: “The coming generation will not feel the way we felt. We don’t want them running the way we were running and hiding, because when the war started everyone had to run and hide. Life was very difficult and people were saying to God: Why us? That was the question. So now we are thinking that God has heard our prayers and He is saying: Your people are going to be free!”

The China Connection

The looming partition of Sudan after last week’s independence vote in the South presents peculiar challenges for Red China. Nearly 5% of China’s total oil imports come from Sudan. 80% of the oil fields in Sudan lie in the South and the state-run China National Petroleum Corporation (CNPC) has pumped billions of dollars into Sudan, with arms deals bolstering the unpopular Khartoum regime. China has defended the Arab regime in international forums against the Southern rebels who are about to lead this new state. China has now opened a Consulate in Southern Sudan’s capital Juba.

China Charm Offensive

In October China sent a delegation of senior Communist Party leaders to the South and sought to upgrade its representation to Ambassador level. The Chinese government and the CNPC oil company have mounted a charm offensive in the South and sponsored dozens of political leaders to visit China in an attempt to repair the damaged relationships and keep the oil flowing from the South to Port Sudan and onto China.

Comprehensive Peace Agreement

This Referendum is a core requirement of the 2005 Comprehensive Peace Agreement (CPA) that ended decades of conflict between the Sudanese Peoples Liberation Army (SPLA) and the National Islamic Front (NIF), now renamed the National Congress Party (NCP).

From War to Freedom and Peace

The longest war, in the largest country in Africa, is about to be concluded after this historic Referendum, which is expected to result in an independent and free Southern Sudan by 9 July.

Faith and Action

By God's grace, the culminative effect of many years of intensive prayer, worldwide publicity, international pressure and missionary partnership with courageous persecuted Christians in Southern Sudan will bear fruit this year. By God's grace, we have stood with our beleagued brethren through some of the worst days of vicious persecution, and we have helped them – not only to survive Jihad – but to thrive.

Dr. Peter Hammond is the author of Faith Under Fire in Sudan. For 29 years Peter has been a missionary to restricted access areas. During the war in Sudan, he flew far behind enemy lines to the beleagued Nuba Mountains with tonnes of Bibles, school books, agricultural tools and seed and other relief aid. Peter delivered some of the largest shipment of Bibles ever flown into an officially Islamic state and came under aerial and artillery bombardment while preaching in churches in Southern Sudan.

Quotes From Political Islam

1) "The Islamic Resistance Movement is one of the wings of Muslim Brotherhood in Palestine. Muslim Brotherhood Movement is a universal organization which constitutes the largest Islamic movement in modern times. It is characterised by its deep understanding, accurate comprehension and its complete embrace of all Islamic concepts of all aspects of life, culture, creed, politics, economics, education, society, justice and judgment, the spreading of Islam, education, art, information, science of the occult and conversion to Islam." – Article 2, The Covenant of the Islamic Resistance Movement (Hamas Charter).

2) "Initiatives, and so-called peaceful solutions and international conferences, are in contradiction to the principles of the Islamic Resistance Movement. Abusing any part of Palestine is abuse directed against part of religion. Nationalism of the Islamic Resistance Movement is part of its religion. Its members have been fed on that. For the sake of hoisting the banner of Allah over their homeland they fight." – Article 13, The Covenant of the Islamic Resistance Movement (Hamas Charter)

3) “Through your valor and resistance in confronting the enemy, one slogan is paramount and repeated daily – only armed resistance, and there is no life for us on our occupied land except the life of popular armed struggle in the service of our objectives and the daily battle. The armed resistance is the only effective method that must be used by the popular masses in dealing with the Zionist enemy...” – Founding Document, Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, December 1967.

4) “Article (5) Liberating Palestine is a national obligation which necessities [sic] the materialistic and human support of the Arab Nation.

Article (7) The Zionist Movement is racial, colonial and aggressive in ideology, goals, organisation and method.

Article (8) The Israeli existence in Palestine is a Zionist invasion with a colonial expansive base, and it is a natural ally to colonialism and international imperialism.

Article (9) Liberating Palestine and protecting its holy places is an Arab, religious and human obligation.

Article (10) Palestinian National Liberation Movement, "FATEH", is an independent national revolutionary movement representing the revolutionary vanguard of the Palestinian people.

Article (12) [Under “Goals” title heading] Complete liberation of Palestine, and eradication of Zionist economic, political, military and cultural existence.

Article (13) Establishing an independent democratic state with complete sovereignty on all Palestinian lands, and Jerusalem is its capital city, and protecting the citizens' legal and equal rights without any racial or religious discrimination.” – Fatah Constitution.

5) “The process of settlement is a ‘Civilization-Jihadist Process’ ... The Ikhwan [Muslim Brotherhood] must understand that their work in America is a kind of grand Jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within and ‘sabotaging’ its miserable house by their hands and the hands of the believers so that it is eliminated and God's religion is made victorious over all other religions. Without this level of understanding, we are not up to this challenge and have not prepared ourselves for Jihad yet. It is a Muslim's destiny to perform Jihad and work wherever he is and wherever he lands until the final hour comes, and there is no escape from that destiny...” – Muslim Brotherhood Memorandum, 1991.

6) “Armed struggle is the only way to liberate Palestine and is therefore a strategy and not tactics...” – Article 9, Palestine Liberation Organization, 1968 Covenant.

7) “The Palestinian Arab people, in expressing itself through the armed Palestinian revolution, rejects every solution that is a substitute for a complete liberation of Palestine...” – Article 21, Palestine Liberation Organization, 1968 Covenant.

8. “Israel is a constant threat to peace in the Middle East and the entire world. Since the liberation of Palestine will liquidate the Zionist and imperialist presence and bring about the stabilisation of peace in the Middle East, the people of Palestine looks to the support of all liberal men of the world...” – Article 22 [excerpts], Palestine Liberation Organization, 1968 Covenant.

Focus on Islam, Israel, and Global Reach

Islamic Power, the United Nations, and Israel

Bat Ye'or is the author of Eurabia: The Euro-Arab Axis, and she connects some interesting dots regarding Islamic influence within the United Nations.

“In a move that caught the Israeli government and the Jewish world by complete surprise, on October 21, 2010, the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) declared the Tomb of the Hebrew Patriarchs in Hebron and Rachel's Tomb in Bethlehem ‘an integral part of the occupied Palestinian territories,’ admonishing the Israeli decision to add these biblical shrines to the list of Jewish historical and archaeological sites as ‘a violation of international law.’

What is less known, however, is that the driving force behind ‘the attempt to detach the Nation of Israel from its heritage’ (to use Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu's words) was the Organization of the Islamic Conference (OIC), which pressured UNESCO to issue the declaration and drafted its initial version. U.N. Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon has recently described the OIC as ‘a strategic and important partner of the U.N.’ In fact, it has been the OIC that has successfully exploited its marked preponderance at the U.N. – where it constitutes the largest single voting bloc – to turn the world organization and its specialized agencies into effective tools in the attempt to achieve its goals, two of which are to bring about Israel's eventual demise and to ‘galvanize the umma [Islamic world] into a unified body.’

Established in September 1969 as the ‘collective voice of the Muslim world,’ the OIC has evolved into the second largest intergovernmental organization after the U.N., bringing together fifty-six Muslim and other states, as well as the Palestinian Authority.”

Today, I Am a Muslim, Too

On March 6, New York City witnessed a small but influential pro-Muslim rally aptly titled, “Today, I Am a Muslim, Too.” According to a PR Newswire release, this Times Square rally was supported by a “broad coalition of over 75 interfaith, nonprofit, governmental, and civil liberties groups.” The wire-story reports, “Taking place in response to upcoming Congressional hearings led by Peter King... rally-goers will stand together against bigotry caused by anxiety, misinformation, and ignorance, to show Congress a united America community which seeks to strengthen – not dilute – our bonds of friendship and trust.”

Speakers and guests who lent support to the event included;

- Russell Simmons (Chairman of RUSH Communications).
- Rabbi Marc Schneier (President of the Foundation for Ethnic Understanding).
- Imam Shamsi Ali (Islamic Cultural Center).
- Rev. Chloe Breyer (Interfaith Center of New York).
- Rev. Amandus J. Derr (St. Peter's Church).
- Imam Feisal Abdul Rauf (Cordoba Initiative).
- Rev. Bob Chase (Intersections International).
- Rabbi Peter J. Rubinstein (Central Synagogue).
- Katherine Henderson (Auburn Theological Seminary).
- UN Goodwill Ambassador Salman Ahmad.

Libya and the World Community

It's no secret that the international community has a bias against Israel, yet often takes a positive stance toward Islamic nations. The Libyan uprising of 2011 affords us a chance to review one aspect of this relationship. Consider: As this is being written, the world is pressuring the Libyan government to step aside, yet this administration has a long history of repression – during which time this same international community not only remained silent, but courted Gaddafi and his regime.

- Libya was elected to the UN Human Rights Council in 2010, in 2008 it held the presidency of the UN Security Council, and in 2009 it held the presidency of the UN General Assembly.
- In 2010 Libya chaired the African Union.
- Libya now has permanent observer status with EUROMED, and the European Commission is (supposed to be) putting an office in Tripoli this year.
- Libya is a leading shareholder in the African Development Bank.
- Last year the US announced it would offer assistance to Libya in securing membership with the World Trade Organization.
- And... a Libyan representative currently chairs OPEC!

Shariah in America?

Last summer, a small group of Christians who operate an outreach ministry to Muslims were arrested in Dearborn, Michigan as they engaged with followers of Islam on the street. Now, the Thomas More Law Center has announced it will sue Dearborn officials for violating free-speech rights. The officials in question include City of Dearborn Mayor, John B. O'Reilly, Chief of Police Ronald Haddad (who was appointed Homeland Security Advisor after the Christian's arrest), 17 policy officers, and two officials with the American Arab Chamber of Commerce.

This lawsuit stems from two separate incidents, including passing tracts at the Michigan Annual International Arab Festival. Right Side News relates some of the details.

“The first incident occurred on June 18, when police jailed four Christian missionaries when they witnessed Dr. Nabeel Qureshi, a Muslim convert to Christianity, peaceably discussing his Christian faith with Muslim youths. The other three, David Wood, Paul Rezkalla, and Negeen Mayel, were arrested along with Qureshi for allegedly ‘breaching the peace.’ The Christians were led away in handcuffs by police to the applause and cheers of Muslim onlookers who just witnessed a victory of Sharia law over the Christians.

The second incident occurred on June 20, as two missionaries, Rezkalla and Josh Hogg, stood on the public sidewalk handing out the Gospel of John to passersby willing to take them. The Christians were there for approximately 5 minutes when eight City police officers descended upon them, seized them, and brought them to the police command trailer located inside the festival where the Christians were admonished, photographed, and ordered to stop their peaceful religious activity.

The police assaults and arrests of the Christians, captured on video, caused a national furor over the lawless tactics of the City’s police department.”

Richard Thompson, TMLC President and Chief Counsel, commented on the Islamic influence in the city,

“Muslims dominate the political and law enforcement process in Dearborn. It seems that police were more interested in placating the Mayor and Muslims than obeying our Constitution. Sharia law makes it a crime to preach the Gospel to Muslims. This is a classic example of stealth Jihad being waged right here in America. And it should be a wake-up call for all patriotic Americans.”

Radical Islam and Russia

The following are excerpts from an article published by Expatica, an informational service geared to the international expat community.

“‘A total war is in progress, fight the enemy where ever you can,’ Doku Umarov said standing alongside two other militants in a snow-covered forest in a video posted on militant website hunafa.com.

As well as repeating calls for women to join the rebellion, Umarov called on Russian Muslims from outside the Caucasus like the Volga regions of Tatarstan and Bashkortostan to join the insurgency.

‘Jihad is becoming necessary for all of us,’ Umarov said, wearing snow camouflage. ‘Spring has come, so, brothers, I ask you to step up Jihad against enemies of Allah.’

‘Today children don't have to ask their parents for permission to start Jihad, wives don't have to ask their husbands' permission,’ he said, standing between two younger men one of whom clutched onto a Kalashnikov rifle with a grenade launcher...

‘I call on you to destroy Allah's enemies wherever you have them, wherever your hands reach you may open a front... When there is a total war, there are no more civilian objects or civilian population,’ Umarov said, addressing Muslims outside the Caucasus region.

Umarov, whose Caucasus Emirate group aims to impose Islamic rule throughout the Northern Caucasus, has claimed responsibility for the Moscow airport attack in January that killed 37 and the 2010 metro attacks that killed 40.”
